

IRS Economic Impact Payment Portal now OPEN

As of this morning, the IRS web page to allow you to check on the status of your Economic Impact Payment status is now active. You can also use this to enter or update your information if you did not previously give the IRS direct deposit information on your 2018 or 2019 tax returns.

Additionally, in the event you did not file 2018 or 2019 taxes because your income was under the threshold or you were not required to file for other reasons, you can also enter your payment information to have the funds deposited directly to your bank account.

The IRS has stated that the quickest method to receive the payment is through direct deposit. Although paper checks can be mailed out, there will be a greater delay.

The page also includes a link to determine whether you are eligible for the Economic Impact Payment.
